

1. INTRODUCTION

1.1 Overview

In 1907, Edna Dickerson came to Minneapolis, Minnesota, from Chicago to collect a substantial inheritance. Local business leaders persuaded her to build a hotel in the city, with Dickerson investing $1.5 million in the construction of the first Radisson hotel. It was planned as a high-end luxury hotel, designed in the French Renaissance architecture style, and constructed with "the best in every line" of paints, enamels, woodwork, and wood finishes, and named after the 17th-century French explorer, ranger and furrier Pierre-Esprit Radisson. The building was sixteen storeys, making it the second-tallest building in Minneapolis at the time. As the opening neared, reports boasted of hand-carved walnut furnishings in guest rooms and Spanish leather chairs in the main lobby and banquet hall. The hotel opened on Wednesday, December 15, 1909, with many of the staff having been hired from large hotels on the Eastern seaboard, and being new to the city of Minneapolis. The opening was followed shortly thereafter by a charity ball for the city being held at the hotel. In an early hotel incident the following month, six waiters from New York were fired, allegedly "because the Eastern waiters could not get accustomed to the Western ways", with three of them being thrown out "into the street before they would leave".

Radisson Hotel Analysis

Radisson owns multiple five-star hotels across India. They have been in the hospitality industry for the past 100 years. Due to strategic moves from other competitors and ineffective decision-making in management, Radisson are losing its market share and revenue in the luxury/business hotels category. As a strategic move, the managing director of Radisson wanted to incorporate Business and Data Intelligence in order to regain their market share and revenue.

4. Advantages and Disadvantages

4.1 Advantages

Wide network: The Radisson Group has the presence in almost 73 countries across the world and has around 1000 properties. Though the majority of their hotels are in the United States where they have a wide network, the hotel chain has a strong presence in most of the Service: Shangri-La Hotels & Resorts are famous for the top service quality and customers are given a lot of personal attention. The decor of the restaurant is imperial and the architecture inspirational and the service quality is consistent across all its properties.

Radisson Rewards: Radisson is popular for their rewards program which has often been considered as an industry benchmark. Their rewards scheme consists of member rates which are lower than the standard room rates for regular customers. Personalised service options, discounts on food and drink and free award nights. The points can be collected for stay across any Radisson Hotel and can be redeemed in any of their hotels as well.

Wide target segments: The hotel chain owns prestigious hospitality brands like Radisson, Radisson Blu, Radisson Red, Country Inns and Suites by Radisson and Park Inn by Radisson. While Radisson Blu refers to hotels outside the United States which cater to luxury travelers, Radisson Red is for young customers while Park Inn is for economy segment. Thus the hotel chain has something for all income customers which in turn helps them target larger audiences.

High brand recall: Radisson is a group of hotels with a unique brand identity which is synonymous with high-end service quality. Through their every moment matters tagline, which also reflects their service philosophy, the group has been able to emotionally connect with their customers.

4.2 Disadvantage

1. The brand name comes with a perception of being expensive
2. Current economic status is bound to take a toll on spending power
3. Still trying to establish itself in the emerging economies
